Land Acknowledgement

“In Brantford and Brant County, we acknowledge that our agencies were built on the traditional territories of the Anishinaabe, the Haudenosaunee, the Neutral, and the Attawandaron peoples. We recognize and deeply appreciate that we are working on stolen lands and that our communities have been, and are, benefitting from continued forms of colonization on Turtle Island. We honour the spirit of the land and the ancestors of those who have been here since time immemorial. We know that acknowledgement is not enough.

The Truth and Reconciliation Committee of Canada reminds us that reconciliation is ongoing. We are committed to reducing the inequities and injustices that these communities are still facing today and are actively working towards decolonizing our services.”

Introduction

This guide has been developed to help caregivers of a child with a developmental disability in Brantford and Brant County.

This guide provides information on transition planning and guides you through the process of planning for the future. The guide also provides you with information on accessing services in Brantford and Brant County and supports that may be useful to you as you begin to plan for your child's life beyond school. The guide is organized by age groups and discusses many life domains to consider when planning and preparing for your child's future. This guide is considered a supporting document to assist you in planning. There may be other considerations that are unique to your child, youth and family.

Transitions

As a caregiver, you naturally have hopes and dreams for your child. When raising a child with a developmental disability, there are many ways you can support and access services to make these hopes and dreams come true. Transition planning is a process. Having a plan for your child's future and thinking ahead will make this process easier for you and your child. While your plan will change as your child grows, it will create a focus to guide you and your child through the transition into adulthood. Helping your child become connected and engaged in community life are steps you can take to ensure they have a fulfilling life.

Where to Start

In Brantford and Brant County a great place to start is getting in touch with Contact Brant.

Contact Brant is an organization that assists you in accessing community services for children and youth. Contact Brant will help you and your child connect with a variety of services and assist in transition planning. It is important to connect with Contact Brant as early as possible.

Call Contact Brant at 519-758-8228.

Age 0 – 2

Community Supports

- EarlyON Child and Family Centres are a great place to participate with your child through play and learning activities in a variety of community settings. EarlyON centres are free and are available to families with children ages 0-6. It is a place you can meet other families to learn more about the community, and participate in various social and educational activities.
- Swimming classes, library sessions, and other activities can also be beneficial for you and your child.
- For more information refer to the Resource List at the back of this guide and/or visit Community Information Brant, Haldimand & Norfolk at www.info-bhn.ca for more information.

Income/Financial Supports

- Apply for the Disability Tax Credit.
- Begin planning for your child's future financial stability.
- If possible, set money aside to assist your child in the future.
- Check out the Special Services At Home program and the Assistance for Children with Severe Disabilities program. You may be able to receive additional financial support through these programs.
- Research other potential supports that can assist you and your child.

Life Skills

- Prepare for the transitions that your child will experience.
- Ensure you have your child's birth certificate and/or proof of citizenship.
- Apply for a social insurance number (SIN).

Health

- Speak to your family doctor if you have any concerns for your child's development.
- Make sure your child has a valid health card.

Age 0 – 2

Step 1: Gather Information about your child

- Identify people in your child's life such as family members, friends or social workers, etc. to create a network of support
- Try to anticipate some supports that may be needed now or later
- Consider potential financial planning for your family's future

What are your priorities over the next 12 months?

What are your priorities to work on in the future?
(Approximately 1-5 years)

Step 2: Build a support network for your child

- Seek out the support of people who can help you to set your child's goals for the future
- The network should have at least two people with no more than eight
- The network can include friends, family, social workers, community members, etc.

List people in your child's network:

Age 3 - 6

Community Supports

- Enroll your child to participate in various leisure activities.
- Neighbourhood Associations promote recreation and leisure activities. There are multiple Neighbourhood Associations offering a variety of activities.
- Community activities will help your child learn how to socialize with others – with all abilities. The Lansdowne Children's Centre's Early Integration and Every Kid Counts programs may be able to provide support for your child to participate in camp, daycare, etc.
- The City of Brantford's Leisure Activities Guide and Your Guide Brant have information about local programs and can be found online.
- Consider registering your child for Day Care programs.

Income/Financial Supports

- Consider saving funds for your child's long-term financial security.
- If your child is eligible for the Disability Tax Credit, you could open a Registered Disability Savings Plan (RDSP).
- The Special Services At Home program may be able to provide financial support for services in or out of the family home.
- Explore if your family/child is eligible for the Assistance for Children with Severe Disabilities benefit.
- Explore if your child is eligible for Easter Seals Incontinence Supply Grant.

Life Skills

- Introduce your child to everyday life skills when possible. This can include simple activities such as dressing, toileting, and using zippers.
- Teaching your child everyday skills will help them learn more about themselves and build self-reliance.

Education

- Register for kindergarten.
- Registration begins in January; contact your local school or register online as early as possible at one of the local school boards:
 - Brant Haldimand Norfolk Catholic District School Board
 - Grand Erie District School Board
 - Conseil Scolaire Catholique MonAvenir
- Request a meeting with school personnel to discuss your child's specific needs, or address any questions or concerns.

Health

- Speak to your family doctor if you have any concerns about your child's development.

Age 3 – 6

What strategies can you and your child use to assist in reaching those accomplishments?

Everyday Life Skills

It is important to begin helping you child understand their own strengths and challenges. What are some ways you can build on your child's strengths?

Examples of ways your child can begin to develop skills:

- Help put toys away
- Put clothes in the hamper
- Clearing their plate after meals
- Assist in setting the table

What types of tasks fit your child's abilities?

Examples of Personal Hygiene skills: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Brush their teeth <input type="checkbox"/> Brush their hair <input type="checkbox"/> Dress themselves <input type="checkbox"/> How to care for their bodies 	What personal hygiene skills can you teach your child?
Support Emotional Skills: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Communicate about emotions <input type="checkbox"/> Label your own feelings <input type="checkbox"/> Help your child to talk about their feelings <input type="checkbox"/> Support them through their emotions <input type="checkbox"/> Teach ways to manage emotions 	What can you do to help your child understand and express their emotions?

Age 7 - 10

Community Supports

- Seek opportunities for your child to be involved in social activities outside of school. This can include community activities such as scouts, swimming lessons, library, etc.
- Give your child opportunities to explore their interests through activities.
- Consider registering your child for summer camp. Register for summer camp as early as possible to ensure your child has a reserved spot. Spots fill up very quickly.
- Seek any supports needed to assist your child's participation in leisure activities.

Income/Financial Supports

- Refer to the previous two sections, as well as the Resource List, for information on potential government benefits.

Life Skills

- Explore your child's interests and talk with them about future goals.
- Seek out other families who have gone through similar transitions with their child.
- Teach your child important information such as their address, phone number, etc.
- Encourage your child to speak directly to service providers and doctors.
- Begin age appropriate sexual health discussions with your child. Help them to understand and appropriately name their body parts, body changes, puberty and human reproduction. Sexual development is a normal part of growing up.
- Teach them how to recognize 'safe people' and 'safe places'.

- Consider registering your child on the Vulnerable Person's Registry vulnerablepersonsregistry.ca. If your youth is ever missing, this will give police access to an emergency contact, physical descriptions, and unique details about your child. This service is available for those living or attending programs in the City of Brantford.
- Encourage your child to develop their social skills.

Education

- For students who require strategies and supports beyond the regular curriculum, the school team can develop an Individual Education Plan (IEP) to support your child's learning and development with parental input.
- An IEP allows your child to receive special education supports and services.
- It may be necessary to participate in the Identification, Placement, and Review Committee (IPRC) process. The purpose of an IPRC is to identify exceptional student's needs and make decisions on how to best meet those needs. An IPRC can determine their classroom placement.
- Special education services and an IEP can be implemented without an IPRC. Students are not required to be deemed exceptional in order to benefit from special education services or the implementation of an IEP. Work in partnership with the school to support your child in achieving their goals.

Health

- Ensure continual care for both your child's physical and mental health.
- Talk to your child's service provider or doctor for mental health support as needed.
- There are various organizations that may be able to assist with your child's mental health. Call Contact Brant 519-758-8228 for information on available service options.

Community Supports

- Encourage your youth to join teams and clubs at school.
- Check out the Brantford-Brant chapter of Best Buddies. This program connects individuals with high school, university and college students to help create one on-one friendships.
- Special Olympics Ontario also has various recreational activities for those with special needs including basketball, curling, swimming, etc.

Income/Financial Supports

- Consider opening a bank account for your youth.
- Have your youth practice budgeting and handling money.

Life Skills

- Encourage your youth to expand their skills which can include advocating for themselves, building on personal hygiene skills, learning how to greet and socialize with others, preparing meals and completing tasks such as laundry and housekeeping.
- If not already done, obtain a social insurance number for your youth.
- Discuss with your youth their interest in volunteering and identify ways they can volunteer if desired.
- Continue their sexual health education. The Brant County Health Unit and other supports have sexual education resources specific to youth with disabilities.
- Consider registering your youth on the Vulnerable Person's Registry. If your youth is ever missing, this will give police access to an emergency contact, physical descriptions and unique details about your youth. Register at vulnerablepersonsregistry.ca.

Education

- The transition to high school is a big step. Speak to your elementary school personnel to coordinate a transition meeting with the high school to prepare and share information.
- Encourage your child to advocate for themselves where possible about their desires, needs and programming interests.
- Have conversations with your child about their desires and goals for the future.
- Become acquainted with both the elementary and secondary school staff working with your youth. Work with the school principal and teachers to resolve problems.

Health

- Speak to your family doctor if you have any concerns about your youth's development.

Community Supports

- Continue to look for volunteer, recreational and social activities to build community supports outside of the school system. Explore memberships in teams, clubs and community recreation groups.
- Developmental Services Ontario (DSO) helps adults with disabilities plan for the support they need to participate in the community as actively and independently as possible. It is important to ensure your youth is registered with the DSO.
- Connect with Contact Brant 519-758-8228 to begin the application process to DSO for future adult services. Contact Brant can assist in connecting with the DSO prior to your youth's eighteenth birthday.

Income/Financial Supports

- Explore Employment Supports through the Ontario Disability Support Program (ODSP) for youth 16 and older who are interested in part time employment.
- Apply for ODSP income supports if necessary. This should be done 6 months before your youth turns 18.
- Apply for Social Insurance Number (SIN) if you have not done so.
- Consider volunteer opportunities and community connections in preparation for future employment.

Life Skills

- Continue to encourage the development of skills that can assist in independence.

Education

- Review your youth's IEP and transition plan to ensure it continues to meet their needs.
- Work with the school principal and teachers to solve problems.
- Speak to your school about desired graduation pathways.
- Graduation Options:
 - 1. Ontario Secondary School Accomplishment (COA) Non-Credit Alternative Youth attends school but does not receive credits for the courses.
 - 2. Ontario Secondary School Certificate (OSSC) Minimum of 14 Credits. This allows youth to opt-out of certain requirements while still graduating with a certificate.
 - 3. Ontario Secondary School Diploma (OSSD) 30 Credits and 40 volunteer hours are required. Passing grade from the Ontario Secondary School Literacy Test (OSSLT) or completion of an alternative course.

Health

- Consider any health care services that need to change as your youth reaches adulthood.
- Make sure your youth has a family doctor that knows them and their needs, and has updated reports.
- If you need assistance finding an available family doctor, the Brant Community Healthcare System and Health Care Connect have further information to assist you.

- Telehealth Ontario is an option where patients can call to receive some free, reliable medical advice.
- Continue sexual health education and safety awareness. There are community programs that provide healthy relationship programs.

Other

- Apply for an Ontario Photo ID Card. This card will make it easier to do such thing as open a bank account and perform activities which require official identification. www.ontario.ca/page/ontario-photo-card.

Community Supports

- Ensure that your young adult is registered with Developmental Services Ontario (DSO). The DSO will register your young adult with the Passport Program, which can provide funding to use towards supports for inclusive employment, volunteering, or participation in the community.
- According to the needs and circumstances of your young adult, they could continue to live in their current home, live independently, or seek out supported living options.
- Explore support for current or future housing. There are organizations, such as the City of Brantford and the DSO, that can provide support or connect you with housing services. Additional resources can be found within the Resource List.

Income/Financial Supports

- If your young adult is interested in building job related skills and finding a job, explore employment services.

Life Skills

- Continue to encourage the development of skills that can assist in independence.
- Encourage and teach your young adult to become their own advocate and share their own ideas.

Education

- If your young adult wishes to attend post-secondary programs, they may be eligible to receive financial support through the Ontario Student Assistance Program (OSAP).

Potential Opportunities after Graduation

1. Volunteer in the community

Tips for Meeting with Agencies and Professionals

Making connections in your community and accessing services and supports for your child and family is beneficial and will help meet your child's/youth's goals as they develop.

As you begin to access services you may work with a wide variety of professionals. Here are a few tips that can help you in your work with agency supports:

- Make an appointment to discuss concerns or questions you may have.
- Before the meeting, jot down what you want to accomplish, what questions you have.
- During the meeting take notes. It is easy to forget important information.
- Expect, and request written reports, such as a summary of decisions or progress reports. Keep all reports in a file for future reference.
- Be prepared to give concrete information about your child.
- Express your needs clearly. State what you believe your child needs.
- Ask for clarification as you need it.
- If a problem arises, concentrate on problem-solving, meet with those involved to find a resolution to your concern.
